To Whom It May Concern,

I wanted to recommend Clinton Jones and share about his involvement at The Summit. I have had the pleasure of working with Clinton for the past 4 years on a weekly basis. He has ordered and put together all of our audio, video, and lighting. He has personally overseen countless projects and completed them on time and on budget. He has built an excellent team of volunteers and has successfully trained them to perform as if they were full time employees.

Clinton is extremely reliable and faithful. He has a strong work ethic and is diligent in all that he does. He has shown the ability to adapt to different environments and situations, and always is able to figure out the best option to meet (and exceed) our needs. He has been able to quickly learn our new audio and lighting systems and has been able to customize it for our use. He is constantly making improvements and is never satisfied with mediocrity.

It has been a joy working with Clinton. His positive attitude is totally contagious. He constantly looks to raise the bar and help develop others. His most impressive quality is his ability to problem solve and find better ways of providing an exceptional audio and lighting experience. In addition to his professional life, Clinton is a great family man and is a loving husband and father.

If you would like more information about Clinton's capacity at The Summit or have questions, please feel free to contact me.

Sincerely,

Scott Turner
